

DI Dr. Florian Poltschak is head of the Hoerbiger Research Institute for Smart Actuators at the Johannes Kepler University of Linz, Austria. His research focuses on new mechatronic solutions, integrated sensor technology and control of electromagnetic actuators and drives for applications in all branches of industry.